“ I visited with Ora and "Pappy" many times, both as friends and to keep their player-piano going. My sympathies to all the family, several of whom I know.

“ Grandma will always be remembered for her beautiful handwork. She made my children's Christmas stockings and did a magnificent needlepoint of a lion that hangs framed in my living room today to remain a family heirloom.
It is comforting to know that she is now at peace and has become one of our angels.
